Shopping without obstacles

Enter the shop with ease

Shop thresholds represent a significant obstacle to the casual passer-by, who may otherwise be tempted to wander in, browse and make a purchase. A hassle-free entry system immediately puts your customer relationship onto a positive footing, allowing them to enter the shop with ease!

Cared-for customers

Remove the physical barrier to entry with automatic doors. Because bags don't have to be put down. Because no additional effort has to be exerted to enter the shop. Because a bottleneck that impedes entry is avoided. With automatic doors the prospective customer is almost drawn into the shop.

Our contented clients

Automatic doors contribute significantly to the reduction of heating and ventilation costs. Instant closing, combined with a quality sealing mechanism, minimises heat loss as customers enter and leave the premises. For a more complex installation of combined entry and exit system, advanced technology provides instant control direct from a PC. Fire and burglary protection is included as standard.

The door to successful business

Be it for a busy shopping centre, a petrol station shop or a small, specialist retail outlet around the corner – automatic doors pave the way for a successful business. TORMAX provides the solution.

“Our revolving doors have been operating extremely successfully for many years, despite the strong winds we often experience. Our customers always feel welcome to step freely inside. The mother with a young child, the father with his shopping trolley, the old age pensioner or the disabled shopper – all enter and leave in safety.

Evacuation of the building in an emergency can be fast and effective, even in the event of power failure or if panic breaks out. TORMAX fulfils all the demands made on a hectic shopping centre.”

CONVENIENCE

Emergency maintenance is rarely required

TORMAX revolving doors operate silently and smoothly. Be it in small or in large shopping centre with floor space covering tens of thousands of square metres, the doors always adapt to the movement of each and every individual.

Our doors are cleverly designed to minimise maintenance, ensuring a technical engineer is rarely seen, except for standard servicing.

However, should a breakdown occur, TORMAX has a nationwide network of fully trained engineers on 24-hour stand-by.

I didn’t notice it.”
Exactly as it should be!”

“All I wanted to do was to quickly go in, do my shopping and be out again. That’s all the door has to achieve.”

PROTECTION

The problem

Millions of vehicles cross Europe every day. As a consequence of such heavy traffic, service station break-ins have become a common occurrence.

The solution:

Security with TORMAX

TORMAX is the only leading supplier to have developed safe automatic sliding doors with special profiles.

Burglars haven’t had a chance since Shell, Q8, TotalFinaElf and Jet have installed these doors.

Service stations are not visited for leisurely shopping so the doors must open quickly. They also need to be space-saving and silent. Most importantly, they have to be reliable, even when opening and closing tens of thousands of times a month and this is what TORMAX guarantees. The logical consequence? Even more petrol station operators are choosing TORMAX to be their partner.

“Without automatic doors, we would presumably have fewer customers.”

“When it comes to customer satisfaction, I don't like to lower my sights. Customers come into the bakery laden-down with bags and then collect a few more! We couldn't expect them to struggle with our doors! It stands to reason that we would have less customers if we didn't have automatic doors. Cleanliness also counts. No-one would allow a piece of cake to be fingered.

It is a boost to hygiene standards that our doors function without being touched – thanks to TORMAX.”

FREEDOM

Automatically more space

Small shop floors have to exploit every single corner. Customers entering should not block the way of those leaving. This is where automatic sliding doors come into their own, effectively creating more space.

Containing atmosphere

Restaurants and commercial kitchens emit all manner of unwelcome

(and welcome!) smells. TORMAX doors close immediately, effectively containing unwanted odours within the kitchen and production floor, helping to fulfil the specifications and standards of the food industry. TORMAX doors are easy to clean and have been operating flawlessly in production and customer areas for decades.

“TORMAX offers a solution for my more unconventional assignments.”

“I often include automatic doors in my plans. They pave the way to a freedom of design. TORMAX offers a solution for my unconventional, demanding assignments. For this particular project, automatic doors for the vehicle lift to the garage on the first floor have provide a smooth, transparent facade. One particularly attractive detail is that the framework of the door drives are made of plexiglass bringing the high-quality technology to light.”

INDIVIDUALITY

The standard: Individuality

Our range of standard products fulfil many requirements. However, for those looking for individuality, TORMAX can also offer a first class solution.

Aesthetics are obviously of key importance to architects and planners and TORMAX is often approached to solve specific design problems. We never say, “that’s impossible!” but instead offer a very personal level of input, advising all the way from planning to execution. It is our commitment to find the best solution for every assignment, providing individualised profiles, coatings, door panels, safety systems and or drives.

Open doors for your customers

Doors made to measure

TORMAX makes doors for any facility, be it a shop with just one sales assistant, right through to the largest shopping centre. Our wide range of systems include swing, revolving, sliding and folding doors as well as fire protection and escape doors. Shape, dimensions, colour and material – you decide what is needed. Larger establishments appreciate being able to control all door functions from a PC, allowing careful monitoring of opening times for example. Integration into an external facility management system is extremely straightforward.

Anticipating requirements

Benefit from our 75 years of experience in the needs of specialised retail and wholesale businesses. TORMAX gives detailed advice demonstrating how, with the right door system, customer hesitation to enter a shop can be avoided. TORMAX doors operate reliably, opening and closing on time, silently and quickly ensuring your customers are always met by an open door which is not even noticed. Aside from providing an impressive frontage, the doors need hardly attract your attention either. Their life is just as long as their upkeep is economical.
